Overview

What re technologies are available in Libya?

Existing utilization state and predicted development potential of various RE technologies in Libya, including solar energy, wind (onshore & offshore), biomass, wave and geothermal energy, are thoroughly investigated.

Can solar energy be used to generate electricity in Libya?

(Kassem et al., 2020) performed a study analysis of the potential and viability of generating electricity from a 10 MW solar plant grid-connected in Libya. The consequences of that study indicate that Libya has a massive potential of solar energy can be utilised to generate electricity.

Are there alternative energy options in Libya?

As the national Libyan energy plan was limited in scope focusing primarily on solar energy and onshore wind energy, this paper focuses the spotlights towards the implications of exploring other RE alternatives in Libya, so that decision makers and energy planners may revisit future RE strategies and implementation policies.

Are solar PV systems a good investment in Libya?

In Libya, the solar photovoltaic (PV) systems are encouraging for the future, due to incident solar radiation is greater than the minimum required rate across the country (Hewedy et al., 2017). Based on that from a techno-economics point-view, there is a need to develop substantial energy resource solutions.

Who regulates the electricity market in Libya?

Libya's electricity market, up to now, is completely regulated by the General Electricity Company of Libya (GECOL). The state-owned company monopolizes the generation, transmission, and distribution of electrical energy.

What is the potential of solar PV & onshore wind in Libya?

The average potential of solar PV and onshore wind over the Libyan territories amounts to 1.9 MWh/kW/year and 400 W/m, respectively. Notwithstanding, biomass and geothermal energy sources are likely to play an important complementary role in this regard.
