Overview

What is solid power (SLDP)?

Solid Power, Inc. ($SLDP) is a Colorado-based battery developer specializing in solid-state electrolyte technology it plans to utilize in bringing scalable cells to EV manufacturing to ideally replace current lithium-ion batteries. Solid Power caught our eye back in 2017 when BMW announced a major investment in it.

Should you buy solid power (SLDP) in 2024?

Federal funding and the recent extension of Ford's collaboration validate SLDP's technology and growth potential. Despite my January 2024 'Buy' recommendation on Solid Power (NASDAQ: SLDP), the stock has experienced a significant 24% decline since then.

Who makes solid power batteries?

Solid Power has extensive partnerships with both BMW and Ford to jointly develop all-solid-state batteries.

Should you buy SLDP?

I believe that SLDP still deserves a 'Buy' rating because of the company's innovative technology, strategic partnerships with major automotive players like BMW and Ford, and its unique 10+ years of R&D experience in the industry that has the potential for exponential growth.

What is SLDP's P/B ratio?

With the most recent information available, SLDP trades at a P/B ratio of approximately 0.5, which is an incredibly low number for an innovation tech company. A P/B ratio below 1.0 implies that the market is valuing the company at less than the reported value of its assets minus liabilities.

Nio solid state battery is here : r/SLDP

If solid powers "Full SSB" and Nio's battery were to have the exact same specs (same fast charge, cycle life energy density, etc), what would give Solid Power a competitive advantage? And remember we haven't gotten test data from SLDP in over a year and a half, and have apparently stalled on A sample release. The only metric that they
