Why did a solar deal not close in Nigeria?

But Nigeria has high interest rates and is considered a financially problematic place to do business and the deal never closed. As the solar industry matured and prices dropped, the government tried to get out of an agreement to pay what it viewed as too high a price for solar power.

Why did Nigeria open its solar power sector?

Animashaun of Nova Solar Power said in the years before the 14 solar projects were announced, Nigeria opened its electric sector to attract more private investment and made it easier for new producers to sell power. There was strong investor backing, too. He was optimistic.

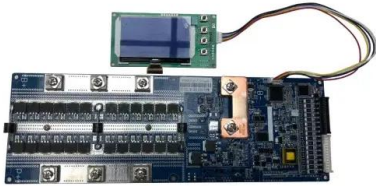

Could new solar farms JumpStart Nigeria's solar industry?

(AP Photo/Olamikan Gbemiga, File) BAKU, Azerbaijan (AP) — In sun-drenched Nigeria, 14 new solar farms were supposed to jumpstart a meager solar industry and generate huge amounts of power, about one-fifth as much as the country's entire electric grid offers on a good day.

How many energy officers are there in Nigeria?

When she started four years ago, the company had 19 stores in the country, now it has 90. More than 8,000 salespeople or "energy officers" in Nigeria sell the products, install them in homes, service them and collect customer debts. "Most of the time we find that energy officers start off as customers," she said.
